		Eunice spent most of her life at 19 Inkerman Terrace, Whitehaven, initially as a servant and remained there after inheriting the house. In her very early years she was in the fish distribution trade by horse and cart. Later she had a shop in Queen Street, Whitehaven, trading antiques, second hand items and a pawn brokers service. Her sister Margaret Cronin worked in Mandals (a hardware shop on Lowther Street, Whitehaven). Eunice was a frequent attendee of St Nicholas Church, Whitehaven. Both had strong connections with the Isle of Man and at times worked there during the tourism season. ¶ ¶ Margaret lived on Foxhouses Road, Whitehaven. Her house had (on the opposite side of the road in the garden) a large monument believed to be a tribute to a famous race horse. Margaret did not marry. Eunice and Margarets father, Frank Cronin was a mine sinker by trade and al
